

darcy.cunningham@nowhere-ecl.org

enhancing children's emotional-wellbeing, creativity, & learning

Learning Resources and Tools

ecl is a practical resource to help parents and educationists work creatively with their children - and with each other. Every week new ideas, activities and stories are emerging around this work. Some of these stories and exercises are available for you to look at or to try for yourself.

These classroom tools and associated activities enable teachers and support staff to help children and young people see and explore their wholeness and interconnectedness.

How are we feeling?

The Feelings Thermometer helps students identify and understand their range of emotions while developing a collective sensitivity to their own and each other's feelings. Learn more

How can we restore our balance?

The Group Mobile invites teachers and students to explore their inter-connectedness, and their sense of belonging to the class group. It is used to create and maintain balance and harmony within a classroom. Learn More

Where is our right place?

Place People enable children, parents and teachers to develop a sense of their 'right place' in groups and communities, as well as gain insight into where they can respond more creatively to life together. Learn More

